

MAKING SENSE OF THE ALBERTA REFERENDUM

About

Prof. Lori Williams is an Associate Professor in the Department of Economics, Justice and Policy Studies at Mount Royal University and a respected political analyst. Her expertise includes Canadian politics, constitutional law, Charter rights, political philosophy, ethics, women and politics, and the impact of technology and social media on society. She is also a frequent media commentator, providing expert analysis on Alberta and Canadian political issues.

Event Description

This will be a non-partisan event exploring Alberta's referendum process. Prof. Williams' presentation will:

- Explore how referendums function within a constitutional democracy
- Explain the referendum process and ballot questions
- Examine the potential implications of the vote
- Address common areas of public confusion

Prof. Williams will look to offer thoughtful approaches to engaging in informed, respectful conversations about Alberta's political future.

Following the presentation, questions and comments from the audience will be welcome.
